GOV. KNOTT PASSES AWAY

Famous Kentuckian was Once Our Governor

Dies at Home in Lebanon as Echoes of Favorite Hymn
Die Away.

Lebanon, Ky., June 18.—"Nearer
My God To Thee."

Just as the last echoes of this old hymn had winged their way to Heaven, sung with sad sweetness by two young girls, and just as the solemn chanting of the Presbyterian ritual had died on the lips of a mourning coterie of friends and relatives, former Governor J. Proctor Knott passed away at his home in this city
at 6:05 p. m.

As the end approached the statesman weakly signified his desire to hear some of the old hymns that had soothed him, when as a boy he was lulled to sleep in the arms of his mother. Misses Bessie and Lillian Brewer who had waited anxiously for many long days to hear that the former Governor was improved in health, sadly consented to perform the last rites of friendship. Passersby wept and unconsciously halted to hear the notes of the old song rendered so eloquently sad and sorrow.

Gov. Knott had been in feeble health for some months, but until a week ago had been able to be rolled out on the veranda in his wheel chair,
where he delighted to sit and watch the passersby. On Sunday last he was taken worse, and symptoms of hypoxia or pneumonia developed.

Under prompt medical attention he rallied and had been some better since, until this morning at about 7 o'clock he was taken with a choking spell and for a while it was thought that he could not survive. Physicians hastily were summoned and gave all relief that was possible, but it was evident that the end was near and the best that could be done was to relieve his sufferings slightly and prolong his respiration for a time.

Close relatives and immediate friends were immediately notified by phone and gathered hastily at his bedside. During the forenoon he showed that he was conscious and seemed to recognize those who spoke to him, though unable to utter a word that was intelligible.

About 3 o'clock he began to sink rapidly and it was evident that it was only a matter of a few hours until the end would come. Around his bedside were gathered his wife, his nephew, J. M. Knott, wife and two sons, his niece, Miss Kate Knott, another nephew, R. L. Nesbitt, and wife; Miss Mary McElroy, Mrs. T. C. McElroy
and Miss Annie Wathen, all close relatives.

Silently they watched and waited while the breathing of the dying statesman grew more and more labored. Late in the afternoon Misses Bessie and Lillian Brewer, two young ladies who live near, and who had been close friends of the Governor, came in and, Mrs. Knott requested them to sing some of the hymns that he had admired.

They complied, and after several hymns had been sung, she asked all those in the room to join in repeating the creed of the Protestant Church.
This was done and as the last words of the ritual died upon their lips, the physicians signaled that the end had come.

Loving arms were thrown around the weeping widow, who had been a companion to the ex-Governor for fifty-three years, and she was led from the room and arrangements were made for the preparation of the body for burial. Funeral arrangements have not been fulfilled upon, but the ceremonies will be held either from the residence or from the Masonic Temple Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, under the auspices of Morton Commandery, Knights Templar
No. 24, of which he has always been an active member.

While dean of the law department
Covington College at Danville in 1900 Gov. Knott suffered a slight stroke of paralysis and since that time had been in rather feeble condition physically, and for the past few years has required the assistance of a man attendant.

Soon after this he gave up his position at the college and moved back to Lebanon with the intention of spending his remaining days at his country home near this city. However, within a few months after he had returned his house was burned.
This was a sad blow to the old man,
and he never ceased to grieve for the home in which he spent the happiest years of his life.

He declined to rebuild the place,
and deeded the grounds to the Proctor Knot Chautauqua Association, to be used for chautauqua purposes, and for which it has been fitted and used for the past six years. He took up his residence in Lebanon in a beautiful home, where for years it has been his pleasure to have his friends gather round him.

Up to within a very short time of his death he had fully retained all of his wonderful memory and faculties, and was never so happy as when entertaining his friends with anecdotes
and stories of his past life.

W. Ford, Supt.

Morning worship at 10:45 o'clock,

(note the change in time) and evening worship at 8 o'clock.

The pastor would be glad to see the members at these services, especially at the morning hour, the definite decision in regard to the next year will be announced and doubtless some thing said that every member should hear.

B. Y. P. U. meeting in the Bar-

aca room at 7 o'clock.

Preaching at Concord Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and Sunday at the same hour.

Public cordially invited to worship

with us at all these services.

Reunion of Odd Fellows.

The members of the local lodge I.
O. O. F., are very much interested in the great Re-Union of all Odd Fellows, their families and friends throug-
out Kentucky and Southern Indiana,
at Louisville, Ky., on Tuesday, July 11th.

The Re-Union will be held in Fontaine Ferry Park, one of the greatest pleasure resorts in the United States.
To make the Re-Union one of especial importance, the children of the Widows' and Orphans' Home at Lexington will be brought to Louisville
by special train, and also the children of the Widows' and Orphans' Home at Greensburg, Indiana. Preparations are being made to give these children
the greatest day they have ever had or ever will have.

Grand Sire, John B. Cockrum, has been invited to be present, and the Grand Masters, Grand Secretaries and Grand Patriarchs of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia and Tennessee, have also been invited.
Many of them have already signified their intention of being present.

In Kentucky, Odd Fellowship has now 32,000 members, in Southern Indiana 20,000. Every one of these 52,000 members have been notified of this Re-Union. The railroads of Kentucky have given a one-fare for round trip, and the Indiana roads in the Louisville territory one and one-half fare for the round trip.

One of the most enjoyable features of the Re-Union is the basket picnic.
Each family is expected to take their dinners in baskets, and eat them
picnic fashion.

Grand Master Gruber, of Kentucky,
and Grand Master Stipp, of Indiana,
are both exerting all of their influence toward getting every Odd Fellow within reach of Louisville to attend.

Victory for Local Attorneys.

Messrs. Heavly & Woodward, attorneys for Robt. Robinson, who was so seriously injured at the Broadway Mines in this county, received a telegram from the Clerk of the U. S. Court at Louisville, Thursday, informing them that Judge Evans had set aside the former judgment in favor of the Coal Company,
and awarded their client a new trial.
The suit is for $15,000 and was tried at Owensboro last May.

Stock Taken up by Sheriff.

I have taken up four red yearling calves, which are now in my possession at Beaver Dam, Ky. Owners can have same by paying expenses.

YOUNG COUPLE STEAL MARCH ON FRIENDS

Miss Lena Coppage and Otto C.
Martin Married in Jeffersonville, May 17.

The many friends in this city of Mr. Otto C. Martin were greatly surprised Wednesday afternoon when they read in an afternoon Louisville newspaper of his marriage to Miss Lena Warrick Coppage, of Leitchfield,
which took place at Jeffersonville, Ind.,
on May 17th.

A few close friends in Hartford and Leitchfield of the young couple knew of the wedding, but it was intended to keep it quiet until fall, when it would be announced. It appears that some way the secret leaked out at the home of the bride and some newspaper correspondent wanted to "scoop"
the other papers by having the announcement first.

At the time of the marriage Mr.
Martin was a student in the law department of Kentucky State University and it was arranged for his bride to meet him in Louisville. She was accompanied by Miss Stella Rogers and the trio was joined by Hon. Alva
S. Bennett, and the four went to Jeffersonville where the marriage took place. There were no objections to the match, but it was decided upon for the novelty.

Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mrs.
Lula Coppage, widow of the late W.
H. Coppage, who was formerly sheriff of Grayson county. She is one of the most popular and accomplished
young ladies of the Grayson capital.
She is well known here, having visited here last year. Mr. Martin is one of the promising young attorneys of the Hartford bar and is to be congratulated upon his choice. They have the best wishes of all who know them. Mr. Martin left Thursday afternoon for Leitchfield and will arrive home this afternoon with his bride and will be at home in Hartford
to their friends.

Visiting at Centertown.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Rowe, of Houston, Texas, but formerly of Cen-tertown, is visiting friends and relatives in and near Centertown. Mr.
Rowe belonged to the 17th Kentucky Regiment, and will remain in Kentucky until after the old soldier's reunion at Centertown on July 4. He has been a subscriber to The Hartford Republican for many years, and it is a welcome visitor to his home.

Trials were Continued.

In Judge Weddell's court Wednesday the Commonwealth vs. Bill Taylor, charged with shooting and wounding with intent to kill, was called.
The case was continued on account of Platt, the main prosecuting witness being unable to come to court.

The case of the Comth. vs. Mont.
Daugherty, charged with feloniously
and maliciously having carnal knowledge with a female under 16, was continued in Judge Weddell's court last Saturday. The date for trial was set for June 26, but it is understood that the defendant will waive
the examining trial.

FOURTEEN APPLICANTS FOR CERTIFICATES

County Teachers' Held Examination at Fordsville Friday and Saturday.

Fourteen applicants for certificates
to teach school in the county were examined by the County Board of Examiners, composed of Prof. C. B.
Shown, Prof. Lefe Embury and Supt.
Henry Leach, at the high school building at Fordsville last Friday and Saturday. This class was the second teacher's examination held this summer.

Following is a list of those who took the examination: Orda Daniel, Sophia Williams, Mrs. I. S. Mason,
Alpha Brown, Winnie Raine, Dudley
Westonfield, Rosie Brown, Mrs. Anna
McFerran, S. Clifton, Taylor, Magie DeBruin, Wayne Richards, Lulu Ac-ceton, G. A. Norris, and Addie Belle Taylor.

Miss Orda Daniel made the highest grade, making an average of 89 per cent. Second highest was made by Miss Rosa Brown, 87 5-11 per cent. Seven first class certificates seven second class, three third class and two failures were made. The examiners stated that the examination was easy, with the exception of spelling, which was rather difficult.

Mrs. Annie McFerran, who had not taken an examination for sixteen years, made an average of 85 per cent.
Mrs. I. S. Mason, who had not taken an examination for nine years, made an average of 87 4-11 per cent. The next examinations will be held on the third Friday and Saturday in July and on the same days in August.

June 27, Dedication Date.

Shelbyville, Ky., June 21.—The formal dedication of the Old Masons'

ter Robert R. Burnam, of Richmond, will preside, and all the Grand Lodge officers will be in attendance at the exercises, which will be under the auspices of Solomon's Lodge, No. 5,
F. and A. M.

Lodge delegations from Louisville,
Commandery, No. 1, and De Molay
Commandery, No. 12, are expected.

The Rev. B. F. Hungerford, the venerable chaplain of the lodge, will deliver the address of welcome. The address of the occasion will be made by the Rev. Aquila Wobb, of Louisville.

The corner stone of the new building, which has been erected and furnished at a cost of about $40,000,
was laid with impressive ceremonies,
at which Grand Master Cowles, of Louisville, presided, on June 11, 1910.

About our Address.

The Cattlesburg Daily Tribune,
with whom the Junior editor of this paper was connected as city editor for some time, has the following to say about our Fourth of July address that is to be given at Center-
town:

Down at Centertown, which is somewhere in the "lower regions" of Kentucky, they are going to have a big reunion of old soldiers and a Fourth of July celebration all in one. There are to be reduced rates of fare on all railroads, good music, fine entertainment, plenty to eat and dead oodles
of oratory will be poured out, swimming hole deep, and towering above
the waves will be seen Hon. J. Ney

Foster, once associate editor of The Tribune, and at present half owner
and associate editor of The Hartford
Republican, one of the best weekly
Republican newspapers in the State.

They have young Foster down for a speech after dinner, at two o'clock,
a time when the throngs will be filled to the upper edge of the collar with yellow legged chicken and huckleberry pie—so that nothing less than a Kansas cyclone or the counterpart of the San Francisco earthquake can possibly hold the attention of the audience. We know that Foster's oration will be a good one, but it is to be feared that too much of it will be lost—will flow out and be absorbed in the soil of Ohio county instead of being taken in by the people who should be the real beneficiaries in the case. After all, if it is as dry down there as it is reported to be in other parts of Kentucky just now,
and our youthful brother can succeed
in making the soil produce a good tobacco crop or corn crop by saturating it with his eloquence, it will be a mighty good day's work for the young man, and he will have been the hero and benefactor of the occasion and the people who attend that big return will call him blessed.

Here's to brother J. Ney, hoping that good reports may be sent abroad
when the tatters are dug and the burley is safe in the hogheads, and the long ears of yellow corn are in the crib, and that it will all be due to the overflow of Foster's Fourth of July speech.

RENFROW.

Crops are doing nicely. Farmers are busy cutting wheat. Gardens are fine, only needing rain. Health is very good.

Mrs. Tom Embury, who has been sick for some time is not any better.
A large crowd attended church at this place Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Sadie Goff spent Saturday night with Miss Bertha Renfrow.

Mr. Earl Smith, Miss Era Cox, Mr.
Chester Kendall, Miss Sadie Goff and Ira Cox were the guests of Miss Pearl Crowder Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ebbon Balze called at A. G.

Crowders Sunday to see Miss Annie

Frizzell.

Messrs. Carlons and Roy Crowder spent Tuesday evening with Victor and Oris Frizzell.

Little Miss Nola Wilson was the

guest of Miss Myrl Crowder, Mon-

day.

Mr. Joe Wilson and little daughter

Daisy and baby Jewel, are visiting

Mr. Tom Engler, of Paradise.

Mrs. Vernie Renfrow and little son were the guests of Mrs. Lucila Crowder Sunday afternoon.

Mr. H. C. Crowder and Mr. H. Morris are at work on the new school house.

There will be singing at the Church

at this place Saturday and Saturday night. Every body invited.

Bible class at this place every Sunday. Every body come.

CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Exceptional Offer Made by State University.

Opportunity to take Entire Course Without Cost—Letter to Supt. Leach.

Young ladies' and young men here is the opportunity of a life time. In fact, the following proposition is one with which mighty few people were ever permitted to meet, and if you let it pass unimproved you will feel the effects of your failure for many years to come, even so long as you live.

Read the following letter received by Supt. of Schools, Henry Leach, and before you sleep go and tender your application for an appointment. Here
the proposition.

"State University of Kentucky, Lexington. President's Office, June 15, 1911.

Dear Sir:—
We find that you, as county school superintendent of your county, can select 10 students who will be readied at this University on September next, each of whom will be given free tuition, free room rent in the dormitories, free fuel and free lights;
and any student who remains during the full nine months' session will be entitled to traveling expenses one round trip from the University. These appointments will be good

Popular With all Classes.

JUDGE ED. C. O'REAR.

All classes are for Judge O'Rear for Governor. The latest to champion his interest is the Journal of Labor a Louisville newspaper, published in the interest of the Labor Union of Kentucky. This paper stands high in the labor circles, and is officially endorsed by the Kentucky State Federation of Labor. The issue of June 11, contained the following concerning Judge O'Rear.

That Judge Ed C. O'Rear would loom up largely on the political horizon in Kentucky some day was predicted some years ago. Born in Montgomery county in 1863, he early evidenced untiring industry, becoming the helper of a widowed mother and sister, though that industry was merely selling papers on the streets of his home town. After entering the printing office of the "Sentinel," he passed through all the successive stages of printer and newspaper man, from office boy to editor. His career has been the subject of so many newspaper articles that it would be useless to repeat it here.

It is in the legal and political field, however, that he established a reputation which has gone beyond the confines of his own State. Nominated by the Republicans for County Judge of Montgomery county against his personal wishes, he was elected by a good majority, although the county was strongly Democratic. In 1900 he entered the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals from the Seventh Appellate District, and over apparently tremendous odds was elected by a large majority. In the capacity of Judge, he wrote a number of important opinions, among them the decision upholding the pooling statute in favor of the farmers, the anti-trust statute, and an opinion very important to the people of the mountains of Kentucky, clearing their land titles from the claims of the "Virginia Land Grantees," as well as other decisions of large import. His services on the bench was characterized by such fairness, patriotism and impartiality that he was re-nominated and re-elected without opposition. Patriotic to the core, he believed that the time had come for some man to get out of the rut and make an attempt, at least, to redeem the State from a mess which have held it down in progress and development. After due and careful reflection, he decided to sacrifice personal interest to the public will and become the candidate for Republican nomination for Governor. In announcing for this nomination, he set forth boldly and unequivocally his views on questions affecting the State of Kentucky, leaving out national politics which as he aptly said in his now famous Hopkinsville speech, "is a matter to be attended to next year, but at present we are concerned with home government."

That he has divorced himself from meaningless platitudes his platform demonstrates. The man who could so understand it and there can be no excuse for mistaking his politics and intentions. The people—the rank and file of his party—will nominate him because they know how he stands. He believes in fair representation of the people in the legislative branches of government, in the betterment and uplifting of education in Kentucky; in good roads; in a revision of the State's system of revenue and taxation; the regulation of the liquor traffic by law; the abolition of the "Third House," and if it does not affect the desired result, then the adoption of the initiative and referendum and the recall of public officials.

Judge O'Rear is not afraid of a contest with the privileged classes who for so many years have dominated the affairs of the State. He does not believe in special privileges being granted to any class of people; therefore holds that the Tobacco Trust and Whiskey Trust and other great combinations should not have the field to themselves. He wants the people to have a voice in our State government.

He condemns lawlessness in all its forms and believes in using measures not only to punish the offender but if possible, to reach out and eradicate the cause. No man who has known Judge O'Rear both as a citizen and official, can truthfully say that he ever stood upon any side except that of the strict and impartial administration of the law. Those who charge him with being in sympathy with murder and arson, in their hearts, know better. He has been attacked for his stand on the liquor question. He does not compromise with the liquor interests; it is true, but he does not favor arbitrary and confiscatory legislation against the liquor interest or any other interest. He does believe, however, that the saloon ought to go out of politics. What fair-minded man does not believe that?

The Constitution of 1891 provides that at some time the county shall vote as a unit on the liquor question, and he believes in putting that provision into execution by letting the people of the various counties in the State, without exception, say whether or not they are in favor of the saloon in their respective counties. He does not see why any county should have different laws from another and the Constitution supports him. In this contention, he favors stringent and effective laws to punish those who engage in corrupting elections in State, county or municipality. He favors electing United States Senators by direct vote of the people; the nomination of candidates for State office by direct primaries held at the expense of the State, giving the poor but worthy man, an equal chance with his wealthy opponent. For these and other policies for which he stands he is called radical. He does not believe in radicalism, but in growth, in getting away from the old rut and enacting legislation to meet the new conditions which have arisen during recent years. This the people know and they are flocking to him, believing firmly that he says what he means and means what he says. He has the confidence of the people because of the clear-cut position which he takes on these vital public questions and the people will have a chance to say on which side they stand with respect to those questions.

It has been said that a candidate should not attempt to make his own platform. This is true as to national races in which the principles of the party are clearly defined, but in State races it is entirely different. In these races, Judge O'Rear believes that the people have a right to what the candidate stands for and what will be the policies of his administration if elected. He has outlined his policies in bold and unmistakable language. The people, therefore know just what his attitude upon those questions is, and if they do not approve of it they do not, of course, want him as their standard bearer. Judge O'Rear should, and we believe would, refuse a nomination which does not pronounce in favor of progressive politics, for which he stands, but with the people behind him, there is no danger but that the platform makers will adopt a platform consistent with his views at the State Convention in July.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

(A Special Department for Our Housekeepers. Contributions Accepted.)

BLACKBERRY PUDDING.

Half a cupful of sugar, half a cupful of butter, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of flour, a little salt. Stir in berries; if canned, drain off all the juice. Sauce—Stir butter and sugar to a cream; if too thick add hot water.

CURE FOR VOMITING.

Take the inside lining of a chicken gizzard. After drying behind the stove, powder it up with the hands and give a teaspoonful in one-half glass of water. The above is a sure cure for vomiting in children or grown ups. It cures when everything else fails.

A SLEEP INDUCER.

An English doctor has invented what he calls a "spectroscope," to put people to sleep. It is not a sermon but a little apparatus somewhat like a pair of goggles, which you put on over your eyes. Just in front of each eye is a small white spot in the middle of a black disk; the sight is concentrated on the white spots and drowsiness is soon induced.

TO RENOVATE A REFRIGERATOR.

Clean thoroughly, sand paper; buy one can hydrolytic white enamel (30 cents), four new rollers, if needed (25 cents); paint with white enamel inside, fix all outside; open and stand in the sun all day; when dry give another coat of white inside and let it sun another day. Put in rollers and you have a new refrigerator at cost of 80 cents.

CLEANING BERRIES.

Now that the strawberry season is here an excellent way to cleanse the berries and destroy all germs is to place them in a colander, rinse in cold water, hull, and then pour over boiling water; drain and follow immediately by cold water, which leaves the berries bright, firm and plump, free from all objectionable matter. Try this and you will never eat them prepared in any other way.

BAKING POWDER BISCUIT.

Take two cups of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of lard, three-fourths of a cup of milk and water in equal parts. Mix the dry ingredients and sift twice, work in the lard with the tips of the fingers or a fork, add gradually the liquid, mixing to a soft dough. It is impossible to determine the exact amount of liquid, owing to the difference in flour. Toss on a floured board, pat and roll lightly to half inch in thickness. Shape with a cutter. Place on a buttered pan, bake in a hot oven twelve to fifteen minutes. The usual fault with some cooks is in mixing the biscuits entirely too stiff and working the dough too much.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS.

Cream of asparagus is much sought after. Prepare it by cutting a large bunch of asparagus into small pieces, reserving the tips; cover with four pinches of boiling water, add a shalot, a few stalks of celery and sprigs of parsley and a teaspoonful of salt. Cook about twenty minutes, then press through a sieve; place over the fire and bring to a boil; beat the yolks of three eggs till light, and to these add a cupful of rich cream and stir into the soup. The tips must be reserved for the custard, and when done must be cut into dice, placed in the tureen and the cream of asparagus poured over it. Cook these tips separately in very little water, and when tender press through a sieve, add a couple of tablespoonfuls of cream, a little salt and the well beaten whites of two eggs. Pour in to thick cups, place in a pan of hot water and poach the custard until firm in the oven.

RENOVATING LEATHER FURNITURE.

If your leather lounge or chair has grown worn and rusty, treat it as they do at the store, and it will be like new. Moisten a sponge a little in warm soapy water and wipe off the dirt that has accumulated; then get a cloth with black ink and go over the rusty places, giving them a second dose if necessary. Then when thoroughly dry, rub all over with a dressing made of two thirds boiled linseed oil and one of turpentine, shakea well together. Lay this dry in and then rub well over the surface to remove any superfluous oil, and you won't know your lounge. An old furniture man says that leather goods should be given this oil treatment about once a year, and that articles so oiled for well last a third longer and look well all the time all they are actually worn through. Even then, if the chair or couch is a tufted one, new pieces can be substituted for the worn out ones, and the joinings will never be noticed, as they come in the creases.

CAUSE OF TONSILLITIS.

Inquiry into the prevalence of tonsillitis reveals the presence of that disease in many of the suburbs of "They say that old men won't do for business these days." "Oh, I don't know. When they get too old to be interested in canoe, or mandolins, or race horses, I find 'em pretty good for work."

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

O'REAR SPEECH PLEASES FARMERS

Jurist Addresses Large Crowd at Richmond and Raps Mob Law.

Richmond, Ky., June 16.—Judge Edward C. O'Rear, of the Court of Appeals, spoke here this afternoon in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor. He was greeted by a large crowd and was given the closest attention.

There were many who expected Judge O'Rear to reply to the speech of E. T. Franks, his opponent for the nomination, made at Barboursville three weeks ago, but they were disappointed, for the speaker never referred to his opponent or the attack made on him.

"It is true that he discussed the conditions in Kentucky at the time of the tobacco troubles, but he made it plain that he was opposed to mob law and stood for the majesty of the law of the land."

Judge O'Rear's speech was of particular interest to the farmers, for the biggest portion of it had to do with agricultural conditions.

He told of a meeting with Dr. Amos, of Caldwell county, who was recently tried at Hopkinsville on the charge of being a "night rider," and said that the doctor expressed regret that he was of an opposite political faith, and was, therefore, unable to vote for Judge O'Rear in the event of his nomination.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

May Attempt Burley Pool.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19.—So serious has the drought become in Central Kentucky that the reports received by Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin are that the white burley tobacco crop of 1911 will be cut to less than 7 per cent of the crop of 1910.

From a member of the Board of Control of the Franklin county branch of the Burley Tobacco Society, it was learned to-night that the growers, encouraged by the short crop, will try to pool the crop of 1911. Solicitors who helped pool the tobacco crops in former years, are being paid at the rate of $1 per acre pooled.

A Peep into the Pocket. would show the box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve that E. S. Loper, a carpenter, of Manilla, N. Y., always carries. Battle Ship Relics.

Mayana, June 18.—As the remains of the battleship Maine gradually rise above the waters in the Cofferdam first discoveries are most interesting. A curious relic of the great disaster has been found.

The explosion last night and this morning recovered plates and other china ware in officers' quarters. Some were identified later as parts of the dinner service of the Captain and wardroom mess. All were in good state of preservation and were found piled up as they had been left by the stewards after the last dinner.

Caught in the Rain.

Douglasville, Tex.—"Five years ago, I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four doctors, but got no relief. I took Cardui, the woman's tonic. Now, I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. Try Cardui. C-12

Revision of Bible History.

Duluth, Minn., June 20.—The revision of the catechism and Bible history and the report of the constitution and By-Laws Committee consumed practically all the time of the convention of the Augustana Synod of Swedish Lutheran Churches of America at the business session today. The question of revising the catechism was finally dropped without action.

Four-Fifths of Your Store Patrons Were Won by Advertising---And Four-Fifths of These Would Be Lost if You Stopped Advertising!

Newspaper advertising is a part of all worth-while store-service—a part of it which patrons particularly value. For it keeps them in touch with your store-events, your sales, the arrival of new stocks, the showing of novelties, the buying opportunities which your store must create for its friends.

The advertising becomes the link between the store and its clientele. They expect the store's advertising to SERVE THEM—"not now and then," not partially; but "ALWAYS, and fully!" To curtail the advertising—in volume or frequency—would make the same impression on them as though you moved into smaller quarters and cut down your force of clerks and workers. To INCREASE your advertising to make it more complete as "store news," as a "market letter," as a bulletin of bargains—will have the effect of enlisting a lot of new store-friends every day, and of winning anew all of the old ones!

FRIDAY, JUNE 23.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce Hon. C. P. Keown a candidate for Representative from Ohio county in the next General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce Albert Leach a candidate for Representative from Ohio County in the next General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Thos. W. Vinson, of Caldwell county, a candidate for Supt. of Public Instruction, subject to the action of the Republican State Convention, Louisville, Ky., July 11, 1911.

"No friend of the people was ever unjustly denounced as a night-rider or a friend to the night-riders, without the people electing him to the office which he ran. The Democratic party should bear this in mind as to Ed. C. O'Rear this fall."—Todd County Times.

Joe Blackburn in predicting the defeat of the Democratic party in November is right, but it is unbecomingly Blackbourn to make such statements. He has been honored by his party far beyond what he deserved, and should behave himself.—Morgantown Republican.

The time has come in Kentucky when we must show where they stand either for or against the great farming interests which constitute ninety per cent. of the wealth-producing element of our State. The farmer will make no mistake in counting the man his friend who is denounced as a night-rider or a friend of night-riders, although he may have a reputation as a law-abiding, peaceable, God-fearing citizen.

In the drawing for positions on the Democratic Primary Election Ballot, which took place in Louisville last week, every candidate who is supposed to be slated with Mr. McNairy, drew the top line except one, Mr. Morgan Chinn, who is a candidate for Clerk of Court of Appeals, who drew the last place on the ballot and as this position appears last place on the ballot, it was the place which he most desired. Although the drawing was said to have been fair, yet the fact that a certain set of men drew all the coveted places on the ballot was commented upon to a wide extent such a result in drawing, WHICH WAS FAIR, could not possibly happen again in a million years. Of course, we are not saying that the drawing was not fair.

The Republican Mass Conventions which are to be held July 8th through out Kentucky, will be more largely attended than any like conventions ever held by our party. It has been too much the case that when these conventions have been held in the past a dozen Republicans around the county seat would get together and pass necessary resolutions and shape them up to suit themselves. This year however, men from the country will attend these conventions and have a voice in them to a greater extent than ever before. If we mistake not, the 8th of July will witness the attendance of farmers at the County Mass Conventions, hundreds of whom never attended or attempted to take part in such meetings before. If they do not assert their strength, and let the Tobacco Trust name their candidate, they can blame no one but themselves.

The death of Ex-Governor J. Proctor Knott, who passed away at his home at Lebanon last Sunday, removes from our State one who had gained world-wide fame because of a single speech delivered in the House of Representatives more than twenty years ago. Mr. Knott sprang into prominence because of his famous Duluth speech, which was intended to prevent an appropriation of $200,000 for a deep-water harbor at that point, when that town was very little more than a village. The speech is a classic for humor and irony. It made a city of Duluth and at the same time made its author one of the most famous men in the world. Before that he had been Governor of his State and had held many important positions, but he had never been noted for anything except sturdy manhood and good common sense. Many of our older citizens remember the debate Mr. Knott and Judge Morrow, which took place at Hartford many years ago when they were opposing candidates for Governor. It was admitted by all parties that Mr. Knott was very much worsted in the encounter. In fact, he showed up in the contest with Morrow at a very decided disadvantage.

Mr. E. T. Franks, who thinks he is running for the Republican nomination for Governor, has now gotten down to the "affidavit" stage of his campaign. When Judge O'Rear spoke at Princeton some weeks ago, among several hundreds who called upon him at his hotel after the speech had been delivered, was Dr. Amoss, who has been charged with night-riding, but who was recently acquitted by a jury at Hopkinsville. Of course Judge O'Rear did not know Dr. Amoss and did not know of his intended call and treated him just as he had treated other callers—in that kind, gentle, manly way for which the Judge is noted. Now Mr. Franks has secured an affidavit from a saloon-keeper and from a liveryman of Princeton to prove that Amoss called on Judge O'Rear. Judge O'Rear had already mentioned the fact in a speech delivered at Richmond on last Friday, so that the great sensation which Mr. Franks expected to create was largely discounted, and when given out at Morgantown fell flat and the only effect which it produced was to bring about still further contempt for a candidate for Governor who would stoop to such unheard of political trickery to discredit an opponent who towers above him, in every respect, mountain high. Mr. Franks' tactics would be unworthy of a ward politician in the most corrupt city in our country. In the meantime, Judge O'Rear is pursuing the even tenor of his way, preaching equal rights and fair play to all of our people, whether they belong to the poorest and most humble class of our farming element, or to the rich and arrogant.

HARTFORD'S UNDESIRABLES

It is a shame that a little city like Hartford, with its cultured and refined people, cannot go along without having undesirable citizens in its community. Yet, we are sorry to say, they exist and they are undoubtedly the most loathsome people in existence.

We read in the metropolitan papers of terrible crimes, robberies and things of this sort and at once these creatures become detestable to our natures, even though we never saw them and in all probability never will. There is another class of people that is even worse than those we read about, and right here we reach our point—the scandal-mongers.

Nothing is more repugnant, hateful, detestable, loathsome and execrable than those people who go around talking of things they know nothing about. They never try to examine and understand the true state of affairs of the subject the whisper about, but go from place to place, private or public, lying, lying and continue to lie. It abroad is still worse. You can see are in our city, but to have to tell it abroad is still worse. You can see them gather at the homes of their neighbors, on the street or any where they stop and then their tongues go to wagging. Anything that takes place that this Hartford scandal-monger does not fully comprehend is a sure mark for talk. It matters not what the subject may be, and times have been known when the topic of their conversation would shame the worst street corner in Hartford. This conduct is contrary to all good manners and reproachful to any person of culture and good breeding. It is detestable in the extreme. It is odious to the utmost degree, and it is disgusting to anyone who attends to his own affairs. What these unthinking, careless and defamatory talkers need is a severe lesson upon talking and acting before they were concerned or knew about what they were talking.

BASE BALL NEWS.

The game at Hartford last Saturday between Hartford and No Creek was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season, and the roots for both teams were at their best. The home team won out to the tune of 10 to 9 and Hartford did not bat in the last inning. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T
Hartford	1	2	0	1	0	5	0	1	1	10
No Creek	1	0	1	2	2	1	0	0	2	9

Notes of the game.

Struck out by Barnett 11. By Renear 13.

Hits off Barnett 4. Off Renear 10.

Home Runs—King and Taylor.

Three base hits—Wakeland, Bishop, King and Barnett.

Errors for Hartford 6.

Umpire, Marvin Miller.

Beaver Dam gave Island a terrible walling last Saturday at Beaver Dam. Score 18 to 0. Beaver Dam made no errors. The feature of the game was the pitching by Peters and his home run. Batteries—For Beaver Dam, Peters p; Thorp c; For Island, Bates, p; Pollock, c. Struck out by Peters 12; by Bates 4. Hits off Peters 4.

Poor fielding by No Creek Saturday lost the game for them with Hartford. However, the fielding for Hartford was nothing like perfect.

The "All-round" playing of Wakeland was one of the features of the game.

Fred Robertson did not fail to deliver the goods, neither.

Rob Roy and Taylor Mines played at the latter place Sunday, when Rob Roy beat Taylor Mines with a score of 4 to 2. Batteries—Taylor Mines, Williams, p; Murray, c. Rob Roy, Williams p; R. Williams c. Umpire Smothers.

Umpire Marvin Miller made a hit with the players and fans here Saturday. His decisions were never questioned a single time and satisfaction reigned supreme.

Tomorrow a double header will be played at Hartford. Livermore vs. Hartford and Livermore vs. Beaver Dam.

The third team of Hartford and Beaver Dam crossed bats here Tuesday afternoon, and the Hartford kids put it over the visitors with a score of 7 to 4.

In the practice game Wednesday afternoon "Little Sockie" Wakeland fanned Dr. Bell. That was one time the Bell failed to ring. (Paid advertisement by Cleve Her).

McHenry had a score of 15 to 3 with Island at McHenry Sunday afternoon. What is the matter with Island aggregation? They use to beat up everything they came in contact with.

A dandy game will be pulled off at McHenry Sunday between McHenry and Beaver Dam. This promises to be one of the most interesting games of the season.

It seems that Hartford teams, little and large, white and black, have struck a streak of good luck here of late. Sunday afternoon the Livermore colored team got defeated here by the Hayt crowd. Score 14 to 4.

SOME BATTING BY COBB.

Chicago, June 20.—Tyus Cobb, of the Detroit American League club, is the first major league player to drive out one hundred hits in the 1911 season. His century hit came in the eighth inning of Sunday's game with Chicago in Detroit. Not satisfied with gaining this distinction for the day he raised his total to 101 with another side one in the ninth.

Battling is not the only division where Cobb leads. His twenty doubles, twenty triples and eight home runs make him the chief of the sluggers; his thirty steals put him at the head among the base stealers and his record of fifty-nine runs in fifty-five games has his opponents beaten by a wide margin. The following table shows Cobb's work so far this season.

Games, 55; at bat, 228; runs, 59; base hits, 101; two-base hits, 20; three-base hits, 20; home runs, 8; stolen bases, 30; sacrifice hits, 5; total bases, 151. Average, .413.

Dividend No. 2.

As per order, Ohio Circuit Court, June term, 1911, I will at my office in Hartford, Ky., on July 1, 1911 pay a 5 per cent. dividend on all claims properly verified and filed against the Ohio County Bank, assigned. Same being dividend No. 2.

Mr. Gay Stetler, Assistant General Manager of the Taylor and Williams Coal Companies, and wife entertained the employees of the above companies and their friends to an old fashioned picnic at High View, Sunday the 22d. The weather was fine and the winds equally so and everything seemed to conspire to make the day a pleasant one. The delicious, which in such number and quality are seldom seen on an occasion as this, were heartily enjoyed by all. No time labor or expense was spared by the host and hostess to make the day ideal in every respect. The treat was especially appreciated in that everyone was taken from the minds of the guests and the only injunction given them was that they should enjoy themselves to the utmost. It is hardly necessary to say what they did. Conferences were furnished every one and the best evidence that the

LANGUAGE IN WRITING ADVERTISEMENTS

Dr. Gunnison Says in Writing
Is Chief Essential.

Dr. Almon Gunnison, president of St. Lawrence University, recently talked to the class in advertising at the Bedford Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn, his subject being "The Use of Language in Advertising."

The doctor frequently departed from the serious side of his topic and clinched his points with apt stories. Indeed he said he believed that the advertising writer who could inject a bit of fun into his work would be a desirable asset to a business house.

The chief essentials, however, the doctor insisted, were brevity and the use of good old Anglo-Saxon words, terse, strong, racy, instinct of the soil "and, of course," he added, "the great thing in everything is clearness. The man is the wisest and the most skilled who can use the clearest language and the fewest words to bring out the meaning. In writing telegrams and advertisements there should be no ambiguity—they should be as clear as crystal."

"In the last few years the spoken word was given way to the written word. The pen is not only mightier than the sword, but the pen today is mightier than the voice. The writing of advertisements requires the highest skill in the use of the English language. The great art of writing is condensation. The great artist is the man that with a few strokes of the pen can make a picture. I think I am correct in saying that the writing of advertisements requires the highest skill in the use of the English language, because you have got to tell the story in a few words. It is. But when you have got to do it with a flourish that is a very difficult thing."

Work Brought Exhaustion.

Adel, Ga.—"For three years" writes Mrs. C. J. Rantz, "I suffered with female troubles. When I would lie down, I could hardly breathe. I could not do any work without being exhausted. I took Cardui according to directions, and now I can do all my work, and do not suffer at all." Cardui has brought health and happiness to thousands of weak women. It acts on the cause of Women's backaches, headaches, nervousness, dragging sensations, weakness and misery. It relieves. It cures. Try it. C-14

Forget Yourself.

One of the first requisites for beauty culture is to forget yourself. I do not mean to neglect yourself, for there is a very wide difference between self-forgetfulness and self-neglect. What I do want to impress most firmly on your mind is that the mental condition has much to do with good looks. You may use all sorts of beauty preparations on the face, but if your mind is filled with grumbles and hateful thoughts about everybody in general and your immediate friends in particular, those thoughts will surely leave their traces on the face. Many a woman with a prettily tinted skin and beautifully curved neck and shoulders would be beautiful except for the facial traces of mental ugliness. So if you would attain the good looks which every woman should desire, take sensible care of your body, but do not brood over fancied or real wrongs, slights or humiliations. Just forget those things. The winning woman is not beautiful. The worried woman is not really beautiful.

Take good care of your body; that is, give it proper food, the needed amount of rest and baths for cleanliness and then forget all about it and go about the duties of the day with your heart full of hope and your mind full of thoughts that are in harmony with the infinite.

Let the woman whose forehead is knotted with fearful wrinkles and whose eyes have the crowsfoot, worried look try this for a while and you

It's Degree.

Mrs. Blowit. Are you planning an expensive gown?

Mrs. Kuowit. Well, it will take at least five courses and his favorite dishes to get it.—Harper's Bazar.

will soon hear some one say, "How much prettier 'Mrs. Worry' is looking." Let the woman whose face bears the mark of hatred and grumbles fill her mind with thoughts of kindness towards those and her heart with the desire for service, and soon her friends will be saying, "Do you notice how much prettier 'Mrs. Selfishness' has grown?"

If the average woman worried less over the thought that she isn't getting all she deserves if life, and sang a few notes of praise over the fact that she isn't getting any worse, a tremendous wave of happiness would sweep over the country, and every home would feel the uplift.

It sounds odd to say use cold cream for cleanliness, skin nourisher for wrinkles and a few other things for blackheads and keep your mind filled with pure, healthy thoughts, if you want to be beautiful, but that is only a sensible formula. Try it.—South Dakota Farmer.

RURAL SCHOOLS ON BUSINESS BASIS

Ruling of Superintendent Regenstein Requires Monthly Reports From County Heads.

Frankfort, Ky., June 21.—For the first time in the history of the rural schools the County School Superintendents will have to make a monthly report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the condition of the County Board Treasury.

The report will show the cash on hand at the close of the preceding month, receipts during the month, warrants issued and unpaid at close of month, deficit at close of month, deficit at close of preceding month, total warrants issued and unpaid at close of preceding month, warrants issued during month and cash on hand at close of month. The reports will be filed with the Department of Education.

Superintendent Regenstein decided on this method of keeping in touch with the County Board Treasury after State Inspector and Examiner McKenna R. Todd had inspected the offices of the county School Superintendents.

Henceforth the county School Superintendents did not make any report of the treasury unless called upon to do so by the Fiscal Court of the county, and in some of the counties inspected by Mr. Todd the Superintendents had never been called upon for such a report. With such reports being filed monthly with the Department of Education the money matters of the rural schools will be put on a business basis.

Henceforth teachers for the rural schools will be elected in every county in the State on June 24, which means that over 8,000 teachers will get certificates to teach on that date. The rural teachers are selected by the Trustees of the Division Board in each county.

O'Rear Men Confident.
Hawesville, Ky., June 30.—Ed. C. O'Rear's candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination is finding new supporters in Hancock county as times pass. His friends are active and confident, and says they expect to send a solid O'Rear delegation to the State convention.

It is claimed that some of those advocating the candidacy of E. T. Franks for the nomination are engaged in an effort to detract the negro voters support because of Judge O'Rear's decision in the Berea College case. However, it is declared that this is only making friends for Judge O'Rear in other quarters.

Judge O'Rear was in the city last week meeting many of the local and county voters, and was met with encouraging news on all sides.

NEW RAILROAD

FOR MOUNTAINS

Enter Eastern Kentucky
Coal Fields in Short Time.

Baltimore, Md., June 19.—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad, controlling the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad Company, secured one of the biggest "scoops" in the history of the railroad world in tapping the coal fields of the Consolidated Coal Company in Kentucky and making itself the Eastern outlet from the Great Lakes.

Official announcement of this great railroad deal is expected within the next two months.

For months the railroad world has been trying to figure out what interests are paying $1,800,000 for the construction of thirty miles of railroad between Jenkins, Ky., and the mouth of the Shelby river at Shelby, Ky.

Now, however, it appears that either the interest in the building of the branch is the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. To build and equip the branches necessary will involve an expenditure on the part of the railroad of upward of $30,000,000.

Her Life a Burden.

Blatchford, Tex.—In a letter from Blatchford, Mrs. Mattie Campbell says, "My health was very bad. I suffered untold misery every month, and at times I felt for death to end my sufferings, for life was a burden to me. I tried Cardui, and it helped me right away. Cardui has stopped my suffering, made life worth living, and added my home with joy and happiness." If you suffer as Mrs. Campbell did, Cardui will certainly help you, as it did her. Why not try it? Objectionable Post Cards.

Any useful fad carried to an extreme becomes objectionable and just as parents are justly incensed at the promiscuous sale of indecent postcards. They are vulgar, obscene and coarse. Nearly every corner store now has its display of cards, every cigar stand, every drug store.

The more vulgar the cards the better sale they have, and publishers are exceeding all moral bounds.

There was a time when the traveler in Europe, with a penchant for playing jokes, would mail back the most questionable cards to friends in this country, in order that they might be embarrassed when the French cards were delivered. Wise regulations put an end to this.

The moral character of European cities has deteriorated in late years. They have no false modesty. We have too much, perhaps, but it is better to have too much than too little. The injurious effect of these cards is that they fall into the hands of children. There are brutes in this world who derive a keen delight in corrupting pure minds with impure thoughts. To this end young girls are supplied with cards that cause yet more in vice to blush.

They are left where they can not find them. They are dropped on the steps of schools, they are left in some likely spot where the youngster will see them.

Some are too young to see anything wrong in such cards. Attracted by the flashy colors, they are moved to collect the cards, for one of the fads of childhood is to make a collection of something—pictures, marbles or stamps.

Teachers have found many such indecent cards and have destroyed them. Mothers and fathers have scolded, but the cards continue to accumulate, and will accumulate so long as the laws permits their publication. Some of these cards could not be sent through the mails in this country and have to be enclosed in an envelope to be mailed. Even then it is in violation of our postal laws.

There has been a noticeable change in the taste of school children. Educators have discussed, with some alarm, the gradual tendency toward coarseness and vulgarity in school children. The cause for this is not difficult to find. The moral fiber of a child grows gradually placid and deteriorates under the potent influence of such vulgar pictures.

The post card was a good thing at first because it enabled the traveler to send home souvenirs, instructive and interesting. It gave to those at home an idea of what the traveler was seeing in strange lands. This was alright, but the vulgar cards of today are all wrong and should be forbidden by law.—Commercial Appeal.

Likes the Army Life.

Recruiting Station, U. S. Army, 510 West Green Street, Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Sid Bratcher.

My dear Sir:—I am writing you this letter to say hello, and to let you know that I have joined the Army. I thought maybe you and some of the other boys at home might like to hear from me, and my telling you something about the Army, may put some of you to thinking, and be the cause of making up your minds to enlist and come along with me, in the life of a Soldier.

You know I have been thinking about enlisting for some time; so the other day I went to the Recruiting Office, and applied for Enlistment. After a stiff examination, the Officer accepted me, and sent me on up here to the main office in Louisville. A fellow has to be mighty sound to get into the Army. He must have good education to read and write. If he is under 21 years old he has to get his parents to sign the consent paper.

There are about a dozen other boys—good fellows,—here with me now, all waiting to be sent up to the Recruit Depot at Columbus Barracks, Ohio, tomorrow. Up there we will complete our Enlistment, and get our Uniforms and first recruit outfits—and after a few weeks training and drilling, we will go to our Regiments for three years with Uncle Sam's army.

I have read and studied a whole lot about the Army, and the life of a soldier, and from all I can see of it, I know it is the best place in the world for fellows like you and me. One thing it takes us away from the poor little old neighborhood where we were born, and gives you a chance to get out into the big world and see and learn something,—besides drudging along on a farm, or in a shop all your life,—with nothing in the end to show for it, but debts, and hard times and a little something to eat and wear. I know that the ordinary country boy could not do better, than to put in three years in the army,—especially while he is young like you and me. It is a happy, contented life, with good pay, easy work, and lots of privileges,—and judging from what these old soldiers all say, a fellow fares alright and has a good time, and is treated mighty well,—if he only behaves himself right. That is why so many of the old soldiers always drift back into the Army again. So, what is good for so many of them, surely ought to be alright for me and you, and fellows like us. That's the way I look at it. So many of them would not stay in the army all their lives if it wasn't alright.

You know the Government furnishes you everything free,—all your board, lodgings, clothes, uniforms,—and doctor bills and medicines,—if you happen to get sick. Besides, if you get your pay goes right on just the same. As everything is furnished free gratis, it leaves you all your pay for spending money. You can save or spend it. I intend to save most of mine,—as a soldier can bank his money with the Government at good interest. If you are promoted Corporal, the pay is raised to $21, and if you are a Sergeant you get $30, and a First Sergeant $45,—and so it goes on up, until soldiers who have been in the army some time may get as high as $75, or $100 a month. Everytime you re-enlist they pay you $3 a month more,—and if you learn to shoot well, you get from $2 to $7 a month more for just that. A fellow with a good education, an smart enough to study hard, can get to be a Lieutenant,—an Officer,—and then work on up to be a General some day,—if he is lucky. General Miles, and lots of our biggest Generals started in as Private Soldiers,—just like us. So, a man has a future in this Army business.

Most people don't seem to understand about Army pay. They think it looks too small for them. But they don't consider that the Government furnishes everything free,—so that all a soldier's pay is that much clear money,—and if you get sick, Uncle Sam does not "dock" you for lost time,—like some of those old closeted fellows that some of us have worked for. Now, take a new recruit's pay,—$15 a month, and everything furnished;—How many of us working and farming boys clear that much a month, for every month in the year? I know I never had that much clear cash to blow in every month, did you? And another thing. If you get hurt, or lose your health in the Army, they give you a pension for life. Also you can retire after staying in the army 30 years,—and counting two years for one while in the Philippines, and Alaska,—you might retire in about 15 years, if you stay over there. When you retire they give you three-quarters of all your pay and allowances,—and about $10 a month for house rent, fuel, etc. That gives a fellow plenty to live on, and be happy and contented the rest of his life,—and not have to work in old age. There are lots of retired Soldiers getting $500 a year. So a man has something to look forward to in the army. It looks mighty good to me. When you work for Uncle Sam, you don't have to be worrying about short crops, low prices of tobacco and stuff, and froshets and drouths,—and these blamed "Night Riders" and these Labor Strikes, and no work, and hard times,—No. These troubles don't bother you in the army, Thank God!

I will stay in Columbus Barracks, Ohio, a month or so, for recruit training, before going to join my regiment, which might be in Texas, the Philippines, Alaska, Hawaii,—maybe to Mexico. But, wherever it is I will be seeing this old world and learning something, all at the expense of Uncle Sam.

If you, or any of the boys around home decide to enlist, you have plenty of time to catch up with me before I leave Columbus. Show this letter to some of our old crowd. They used to talk about running off and joining the army. Now they are old enough to walk of and do it. It would be a good idea for a lot of us to go along together to the same regiment,—for then we would be company for each other. They tell me here that there are more Kentucky boys in the army, than from any other State. If that is so, and it suits them, I know it will suit me and you and the rest of the bunch.

Don't wait too long to decide; because, they say after this Mexican trouble is all over, and the Army gets filled up, they will stop recruiting again, like they did two years ago. Then a New recruit can't get in,—and you would be too late.

So, go over to the recruiting Office and talk it over with the Officer there.

They will put you up at the best hotel, and treat you fine,—and after they accept you, then you have no more expense. I know you can pass the examination as easy as I did, and I hope you will decide to cut loose from that hard Sun-up-to-sun-down work and come along with me to join the good old army. I am going to be looking for you on every train.

Tell all the boys howdy for me, and don't ever forget.

Your old friend,
